The sight of a man who doesn't want an office is said to be a great comfort to President Cleveland just now.

Sam Jones is killed for Owensboro the first of May. There will be a general stampede among the people from this section to hear him.

This cyclone which swept over Michigan last week killed four persons, and destroyed several hundred thousand dollars' worth of property.

The Good Roads Convention which met at Bowling Green last week adopted a resolution favoring the working of convicts on the public highways.

It is reported from Washington that the President will not consider the applications for Internal Revenue Collection in this State until next June.

PORTSMOUTH General Bissell is besieged by five hundred applicants each day who want a post-office that pays anywhere from ten to one thousand dollars annually.

It is Heidelberg can't raise that $4,000 just step down from Professor and Cloverport will put it up. She knows a good thing and will put up the stuff to get it too.

Nonny in this county seems to have the check to offer for the next Legislature. Probably they think there is no one else that will become gray before they hear the last of this one.

All the Blue Williams converts are getting ready to be converted again when Sam Jones comes—Owensboro Messenger.

And why not? When the thread is one spun to be worn into holy cloth. See, my?

Is the matter of holding office as in many other things, a woman seems to prefer the man. In Kansas City, only six out of about four thousand women voted for the female candidate for Mayor.

The extension of the Owensboro Falls of Rough and Green river railroad from the New Falls of Rough to a connection with the New Falls of Rough and Mississippi Valley at Horse Branch was completed last week.

Don't give to the World's Fair should run clear of cheap leading houses. Anyhow you shouldn't be in too big a hurry to start. The great show will not get fairly under way before the first of June.

This citizen of Frankfort will wake up some fine morning to find that the city of Louisville has walked off with the State Capitol. A more concerted, unified business effort was never put forth before to get as much as on hand now for that purpose.

Two speech from Senator Lindsay before the Watersboro club in Louisville last week serves to strengthen him in the estimation of his constituents, and prove that he is a leader in the legislature as big a brain as had Beck and is as flowery as Breckinridge.

There is to be a mighty big Republican assembly in Louisville the 10th of May. Sort of an experience meeting, where the boys can tell it over again, how that thing happened last fall, and why so many of them are now out of a job. The Xmas will give the particulars in detail for the benefit of its Republican readers here and elsewhere.

It is improper persons get into the post-office, says the Assistant Postmaster General the fact will be with the Congressmen. Then the Congressmen will not be at fault if first he ascertain the will of the people in a community to assist them in their efforts. He should be governed to by a majority of those who have the largest business interests to consider.

A WORD ABOUT OUR PREMIUMS.

Our patrons will please bear in mind that we have nothing to do with the distribution of the premiums further than to arrange the list, which is done in advance before any names are entered. Subscriptions are entered in the order in which they are received, and attention being paid to the premium. A certain per cent of the subscription price is set aside for premiums, which are given as an inducement to new subscribers and to old ones to renew. Instead of giving us fifty or a hundred large premiums we give every paid-in-advance subscriber a premium, valued at 25 cents up. It is fair and equitable and we aim to treat every body alike. We hold that the paper is worth a dollar of any man's money who carries it at all, regardless of the premium. So when you send in your subscription don't expect a house and a lot, or a gold watch, for we have none on the list nor do we expect to have any. If you want one of the best papers in the State and that gives you all the news of your town and county, send us a dollar and we'll insure you a premium of some kind.

Why not trade at Dittys? You will find his line of goods as cheap as the cheapest and you can in addition obtain a nice picture, book or spice cabinet.

HARDINSBURG.

Passenger Daily car, Hardinsburg, 7:45 a.m.

Wat Lentin is quite sick.

Hook & Smith, solicitors at law, are at the law office.

Miss Maggie Smith returned home last Saturday.

Miss Lillie Cooper Ruth was visiting her Monday.

Miss Bettie Allen, of Stephensport, is visiting Mrs. Witt.

Mrs. Lee Meyer went to Burns last Friday to visit friends there.

Godfrey Harwell is doing the painting on P. Dillon's house.

Dr. Thomas Gardiner was here last week and spent a few days.

Mr. Hiram Phelps and wife, Louisville, are visiting here this week.

Straw hats for big, little, old or young just received at Beard & Beeler's.

Hook & Smith, solicitors at law, are at the law office.

The greatest bargain yet to have your pictures enlarged at Beard & Beeler's.

Just received a new supply of corn and tobacco grower.

The town is not altogether clear from typhoid fever. Better clean up the fifth.

Call and see the egg basket at our office. It is just the thing for the lameness.

Keep in mind the big picnic for this town July 4. It will be run by Busby & Co.

It is reported here that Miss Bettie Beeler is to be married in Louisville this week.

Fancy candies and the freshest and best quality of crackers and cakes at W. B. Hardin's.

They want to put the new school building on the lot opposite Judge Meyer's residence.

Mrs. W. B. Hardin will attend the week you have, and any other produce you bring to market.

Marshall James Beeler is on the sick list. Logan Tate is acting for him as City Marshal.

It will pay you to see a price Hook & Smith's millinery goods before purchasing elsewhere.

If you want the best and most durable sewing machine you can buy, call at Busby & Co.

Miss Sallie Richardson, of Union Star, is in the city this week, visiting her sister, Mrs. Percy Beeler.

Remember that at all groceries and canned goods you can get the best bargain from W. B. Hardin.

Do we want a fair ground here? Well yes. It being the center of the county, the right place for it.

We have something to attract the ladies, either in a pretty dress or in a new pair of shoes.

Hook & Smith will be pleased to have their friends call and see their millinery goods, and purchasing elsewhere.

Now, if you just want to look like you came out of a tailor shop, put on one of those nifty suits at Beard & Beeler's.

The trouble next year will be to find somebody to do the laundry for the people that everybody wants to run for office.

We can fit you in size, price and quality of goods, if you want a suit or extra pair of trousers.

Remember the public meeting at the Court-house Saturday night for the purpose of starting the new school building.

Ottie Leach is giving the old brick corner a general overhauling. She will have a first class house out of it when it is finished.

John R. Beeler, Everett Galt, Lawrence Miller and Hiram Phelps went to the Falls of Rough Monday to spend a few days fishing.

Mrs. Mary N. Hook and Miss Leticia Smith have opened a dressmaking and millinery shop in the Board property opposite the brick church.

If this opportunity for getting a college education here is lost we will not have another presented as soon. Better come out and get interested. It's a go.

The 4th of July will be celebrated by the grand parade and picnic that has been given at this place. Look out for large bills.

Busby & Co.

Mr. P. M. Daniel, formerly of this place, has charge of the Equippin wheel at the Watersboro Club. It is a very attractive and a small admission fee is charged all day.

Phocian Guthrie, colored, bought the house in which Mr. Mattingly has been selling shoes for some time.

Mr. Mattingly will occupy the place belonging to Mr. Johnson as soon as it is repaired.

Now they are beginning to talk up candidates for County Judge. Judge Addison will likely stand for re-election and the field will be clear for all new candidates. There are three entries in the race now, and a fourth just as good as in.

Four thousand dollars to start a college in Hardinsburg ought to be raised without any trouble. Nothing will pay the boys better. Come out to the meeting Saturday night and hear what is to be said about it, who has prepared to give something.

Mr. John Hobbs, who has for so long been connected with Mrs. Tiff in the dry goods business, leaves this week for Ekron, Meade county, where he will start a store with Mr. Fred Kaye. Mr. Hobbs is an excellent salesman, a good citizen, and will be a valuable man to the Ekron community.

Commissioner Babbage sold the Clark farm at the Court-house door last Monday for the sum of $1,100. Walter S. Clark was the purchaser. Jas. L. Frank bought the Andrew Frank land near J. H. H. station at $300. Beards and James Flood, four acres near Stephensport, at $80. The first property in Cloverport was not sold because of some irregularity in the judgment.

Notice

I have just painted, papered and refurnished my parlor. The best brands of whitties always on hand and at the lowest figures. A schooner of beer for a nickle. South side Court Square.

Newsom-Jabine.

Cloverport Society Pulled Up Short by an Unexpected Wedding.

A SURPRISE TO EVERYBODY.

Never before was Cloverport society so thoroughly surprised, as it was last Saturday morning when it became generally known for a fact that Dr. R. L. Newsom and Mrs. Jennie Jabine were married.

Last Wednesday morning Mrs. Jabine and Miss Lela Henley went to Louisville on a shopping expedition. They were followed on Thursday by Dr. Newsom, who "ran up on a little business." The fact of these parties being in Louisville created no comment, because they visit the city often. This time Dr. Newsom joined the ladies and a license being procured the wedding was consummated.

They were married in the parlors of the Fourth and Walnut streets Baptist church at 8:30 o'clock p. m., Thursday evening, the 12th, last. The Rev. Dr. Eaton officiating. The only witnesses were Geo. S. Allison, cashier of the Second National Bank, Louisville, and Miss Lela Henley, of this city.

The wedding party returned to Cloverport on the 10 o'clock train Friday night and have been receiving the congratulations of friends since. They have rooms at the Cloverport Hotel and will remain there till the Doctor builds a new residence which will be commenced soon.

CUSTER.

C-a-n-o-y-o-r.

Greens eat nicely now.

Very little visiting, these days.

Mrs. Nannie Hall is very ill.

Mrs. John Comer is no better.

Keep a look out for that wedding.

The night did not amount to much.

We understand Mr. Cal Fickell wishes to buy a new little farm.

Mrs. Oscar Alexander is visiting her father and mother this week.

We understand Mr. Scott is in court.

C-a-n-o-y-o-r. He is in town again.

Mr. Joe Pile was in town Saturday.

He had just arrived from Pleasantville.

The Church Cleaning Committee say, "Please do not expectorate on the church floor."

Mr. Joe Pile will farm this season. He has abandoned the idea of going to Toledo, Ohio.

The Sunday school hour has been changed from nine o'clock, a. m., to two o'clock, p. m.

Fruit trees are arranged in all their beauty now. If there are no more frost, fruit will be plentiful.

The musical ring of the blacksmith's anvil is heard on the breeze. They too get their quota of work.

Preaching here on Saturday night before the second Sunday and the second Sunday at 11 o'clock, in each month.

The ladies of the Epworth society and plenty of it. As to your out-buildings and fences and see how nice they look.

Constantine is not far; in consequence Custer boys ride out on Sunday morning to see how the girls are getting along, and vice versa.

Mr. Elijah Tuck, who some six weeks ago went to Missouri to look at the country prior to locating in the country west, has returned very much pleased with the outlook and now thinks he will make Missouri his permanent home this fall.

Mr. J. E. Oliver has divided her farm among her several children.

We understand she will make her home with her youngest son. Her children met April 12th for the purpose of a division.

Mr. Wes Oliver, of Big Clifty, contracted plans buying out all the belms he desires to sell.

Custer youngsters have a hard time to get together. The old folks do not believe in gatherings, such as parties or picnics. One in a while they are prevailed upon to let the young people have a singing, but then the youngsters are doomed to keep their eyes fixed on the old folks and not peep at the boys or else they are talked about.

Mr. Babe Nimmo in attempting to alight from a colt struck his leg against the fence causing him to jump and fall. It threw him violently against the ground on his hip, dislocating the joint. He was dragged some distance before the horse was stopped. Mr. Nimmo has the sympathy of the community. He has a great deal to contend with lately.

The Church church needs a regular spring cleaning. And when it is nicely cleaned (we heard some ladies say they were going to act as a committee and clean it themselves) let every man see to it that he individually refrain from cheating during church services. It brings a blush to the cheek to see the church floor in its present condition, and to think it is a house dedicated to God. For shame.

April 12th, 1935.

MR. BUTTER MARK: Dear Sir—If other friends had not so kindly furnished me of the spelling of your name I should with much pleasure, if ever opportunity offered, avail myself of your invitation to call on you at your home.

Respectfully,

A LOVELY WEDDING.

The Marriage of Miss Nannie Stephens and Mr. Caldwell Norton.

One of the grandest social events that has occurred in this section of Kentucky for quite a while was the wedding of Miss Nannie Stephens and Mr. Caldwell Norton, which took place at Maple Hill, the beautiful country residence of the bride's parents.

Dr. T. T. Eaton, of Louisville, performed the ceremony.

The wedding occurred at 8 o'clock p. m., in the presence of more than a hundred guests, who had assembled from different parts of the state.

An elegant wedding dinner was served after which the guests departed. A special train departed at 11 o'clock p. m., for Louisville, bearing the young couple and many guests, who had accompanied the groom from that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Norton left Louisville the next morning for a tour of several weeks through New York and other Eastern cities.

The bride is a beautiful and accomplished daughter of James C. Stephens, of Hol, who is well-known throughout Kentucky. She is quite a favorite in Cloverport and Louisville society and is universally loved and admired by all who have been so fortunate as to be within the radius of her sunny smiles.

The groom, Mr. Caldwell Norton, is of a prominent and wealthy family also well-known throughout the state. He will take his bride to his elegant Jefferson-county home, near the suburbs of Louisville.

LODIBURG.

Quite a crowd at Lodiburg Saturday evening.

Miss Bettie is still laughing and growing fatter.

Mr. Willie Arnold was the guest of Miss Beeler last Sunday.

The sun is once more showing his bright face, for which we are truly thankful.

The farmers are all about done breaking corn ground, but very little planted yet.

Mrs. Georgia Hardin and Mrs. Mollie Gibson visited Mr. Wm. Shaw last Thursday.

Mrs. Helen Compton, of Hancock Co., is visiting relatives at Lodiburg this week.

The jury of the case of Miss Nettie Cashman Sunday evening.

Mrs. Gus Gibson, of Cloverport, attended church at Walnut Grove Saturday night.

Misses Bobbie Hardin and Lillie Avitt attended the Robertson-Bearcamp wedding Sunday, April 9th.

Rev. A. N. Widdell will be called to be the pastor of the Walnut Grove church for the ensuing year.

Rev. Spillman delivered a lecture Saturday night at Walnut Grove. Subject "Laugh and Grow Fat." Quite an enjoyable affair.

Misses Janie and Cora Hendry, of Preston, attended church Saturday and Sunday at Walnut Grove and also the lecture Saturday night.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 19, 1893.

SOME MOTHER'S BOY.

Young men, who leave a father's home,
O'er this cold, dark, world to roam?
Are you not that father's only joy?
Are you not some dear mother's boy?

Oh, wanderer, in a stranger's land,
With weary foot and toil-worn hand,
A home and friends and love and joy,
Await thy return, O! onward boy.

Oh, one of the West, whose youth thou hast Strayed,
And with beads of the wild-wood, thy home
Hath made;
Thy stayings, thy parents at home
For they weep as they pray for their wandering boy.

As the sun, the western sky, descends,
As he, on his way homeward, winds,
Thy father thinks of thee in a distant land,
And from his eye fall the tears on his old worn hand.

Though an outcast or dweller of rocky cavern,
Or a way-worn guest of wanderer's tavern,
Though, an outcast and stranger to guest and joy,
Though a prodigal son, you are some mother's boy.

Though a lover of riches of cards or of gin,
Though vile, debased or laden in sin,
If you are an heir of sorrow or joy,
Though cumbersome or sardonic, you're some mother's boy.

No matter how deep in villainy you've been,
No matter how long you've slept in sin,
No matter how low your standard of joy,
Though lost and undone you are some mother's boy.

That mother whose prayers doth ever ascend,
That mother who is ready and willing to lend,
For your comfort, your welfare and joy,
Two tender, loving, hands to some mother's boy.

Do you think any boy in midnight's silent hour,
While you witness the Creator's wonderful power,
Do you think as you sit alone in this world of care,
Will God ever answer my mother's prayer?

Dear boy of the shop, of the office or store,
Thy loving mother's prayers may succeed ere long,
If you are thoughtful and earnest, neglectful
And dull,
Though these prayers are in earnest, you can Make them null.

Though she, prey, entreat and implore,
Will you, her prayers and entreaties, ignore?
And if she counsel, advice or request,
Will you still turn away and say I know best?

Will you turn from that mother with tear-moistened eyes,
With a soul full of prayers and a heart full of sighs?
Will you turn from that mother, so old and so grey?
Will you say to that mother, I know the best way?

That mother for your weakness, her prayers
Doth repeat,
While kneeling with meekness at the dear
Saviour's feet.

Will you flee from the right,
Consent to the wrong,
And take the downward flight,
With the innominate throng?

Of sin, death and hell, Oh! will you never tire?
Do you love the dark road and sin's bloody mire?

If all these pleadings and prayers be in vain,
Thou hast it thy kingdom, in hell thou shalt reign.

Come, enter the fold and never more roam,
Abide in the bosom, the prodigal's home.
Come rest your puny arms, your weary legs
Down,
And accept from the father a star-bedded crown.

Come from those slights and dark and deep days,
And say to that mother you may come to wage Thou turn to the world and with pride and Dread friends pray for me, a Christian mother's boy.

A CHIP OFF
THE OLD BLOCK.

Dr. Milton Board Responds Elo-quently to a Toast at a Banquet.

The Natural Gift of the Father is Developed in the Son and He Makes the Welkin Ring

A SPEECH WORTH READING.

At the first annual banquet of the Alumni Association of the University of Louisville Medical College, Dr. Milton Board, son of our respected County Attorney, Judge Milton Board, made the following remarks in response to the toast, "The Club."

"FELLOW-GRADUATES, HONORED FAC-ULTY, GENTLEMEN OF THE ALUMNI.—The graduating class of 1893 is especially noted for two things—first, we are the largest class that ever leaved forth from the walls of the university; and, secondly, we have, with the assistance of certain members of the faculty, together with some former graduates of our celebrated school, succeeded in releasing from a long-term imprisonment an offspring of the college who owed his incarceration to the lethargy of those who beget him and his long-term imprisonment to the lack of ambition on the part of former graduates. I refer, gentlemen, to the alumni who cause forth tonight
in a full dress suit receiving a greater ovation at this, his eleventh, anniversary than he did at the time of his birth. My newly formed alumni be perpetuated, may the example set by our matchless class be followed by the graduates of future years, and may the almanacry of this occasion be celebrated in keeping with its importance and reflect credit upon the institution from which we go forth.

During the last few days since examinations were concluded (I had little time for it before) I have been much given to retrospection. I look back to eighteen months ago and see most of us (country boys) making our way to the beautiful

metropolis of the "Blingerie State," filled with vague ideas of a medical college and what goes to make up a medical student's life, never dreaming that we had reached our destination and been at least partially initiated that we would find anything else than a set of serious, thoughtful men, whose sole object in being here was to study that noisy, most fascinating of professions, if such thoughts were yours as they were mine, fellow-graduates, how sadly were we disappointed.

STUDENT'S VAGRANCY.

We remember the morning of our matriculation; how a civil, polite gentleman in a characteristic blue suit sat in the Dean's office before the hour of 10,
and wondered if he were Prof. Bell-ing, how important second-course men were, as they introduced each other to us, recent emanations from a cornfield.
"Doctor," I thought, how important
we ourselves would feel as when a year hence we would do the same thing. The coming spring was a time for separation,
the advent of autumn was a period of remembering, now down again to work
after the usual greetings and handshakes. That which was dark and mysterious in our junior course, now began to unfold before us to a considerable extent,
and we found ourselves, prior to the development of a certain disease, of which I shall have occasion to speak a little later, filled with the idea of our own self-importance and begin to imagine that we are fast approaching the meridian of professional life. The disease to which I refer is "Green Room Fever." Its etiology is traceable to the knowledge which students have of the fate of some former candidates for graduation, to the timely warnings of certain members of the faculty and a consciousness, to which they are at last aroused, of their individual weakness on matters pertaining either to practical or scientific medicine.

THE SYMPTOMS.

The symptoms are much reticence,
increasing with the wane of the month of February, a constant disposition to talk, and that about their own disorder, and finally develop a symptom, having much to do with the favorable termination of the disease—i. e., a constant, uninterrupted desire to study. The character of the disease is peculiar, in that it strikes both of the typhoid and the intermittent type. It is usually epidemic, occasionally endemic, but never occurs sporadically. Finally, another distinguishing feature which it manifests is subjected to an end by crisis on or about the 9th of March; there is much rejoicing among the many, much lamenting by a few, and altogether a good deal of noise is made sufficient to remind the citizens of Louisville of certain localities
that another commencement day is at hand.

I quit day-dreaming and came down here to attend this banquet with the words of Charles Dickens ringing in my ears: "Such are the changes which a few years bring to pass and the things soon away like a tale that is told."

Gentlemen of the graduating class, I trust you. Few and pleasant have been the days we have labored together;
many and arduous may be the years we may still together; there be sentiments rising up in human hearts never expressed;
these are thoughts, originating in the human brain, inexpressible; such are my thoughts, such are my feelings on the present occasion. Tonight we assemble around this festive board, to consider a fitting and natural manner our associations together, together we go forth into our respective fields of labor, and in a few days we will be as widely separate as the distant stars of our great galaxy will allow. There is but one way by which in the after-coming years, we can keep trace of each other, and that is by the perpetuation of this organization, which we are tonight celebrating. Will we let it go down, as our predecessors, who were its original founders, or will we vie with each other tonight to do all in our power to preserve its healthy, active organization? Do the latter, fellow-graduates, and in future years our class will still be noted, our example will be followed by those who come after us, reflecting credit upon each and all of those who graduated in 1893.

JUSTLY ENTITLED TO IT.

Dr. Hale's Household Cough Cure is justly entitled to the praise it is receiving. Whenever introduced it has proven itself the most reliable remedy known for the cure of coughs, colds, hoarseness, whooping cough, bronchitis, soreness of the lungs and every kind of a cough from simple cold to anticipated consumption.
Purely vegetable. Always reliable and effective. For sale at 25 and 50c.
per bottle at Short & Haynes' drug store.

SUBJUGATION.

The Interference of the Government with Labor Unions Discussed.

It Will Lead to Rebellion or Slavery,
Or the Federal Government Will Own and Operate
the Railroads.

THE RICKS DECISION.

In discussing the recent decision of Federal Judge Speer in the Ricks case
the St. Louis Republic speaks as follows:
FEDERAL CONTROL OF LABOR UNIONS.
"The decision of Federal Judge Speer
is that a receiver appointed by the Federal Court must carry out a contract with the Engineers' Brotherhood made before the receiver was appointed; and in view of the decision of other Federal Judges the Brotherhood is a corporation in restraint of interstate commerce, it is looked on as giving legal recognition to the Brotherhood as a party to a contract made by the agent of the Court before it."

It is not the affair of the Federal Courts
to interfere with this Labor Union either to "recognize" it or to attempt to suppress

it. Men have as much right to organize a Labor Union as they have to organize a church, and they are responsible as individuals for their individual acts. It is the business of the courts to deal with them as individuals and not as members of a church, a labor union or any other organization formed for lawful purposes.

But the intention of this Federal Judge is not to give the Brotherhood a legal status. He strikes it a blow "below the belt." In pretending friendship for it he is merely introducing the declaration that it will be controlled by the Federal Court hereafter under the provisions of the Sherman act.

"A combination of persons," he says,
"without regard to their occupation,
which would have for its effect the defeat of the provisions of the Interstate Commerce law inhibiting discriminations in the transportation of freight and passengers, would be liable to the severe penalties of the statute. Now if it is true that in any considerable strike upon transportation lines of this country, whether main lines or branch roads, there would be interference with interstate or foreign commerce, it will be practically impossible hereafter for any body of men to combine to hinder and delay the work of the transportation companies without becoming obnoxious to the provisions of these laws."

This is a notification that the Federal Courts have assumed control of the Labor Unions under the Sherman act and the Interstate Commerce act and that they mean to break down any Union that strives in such a way as to interfere with the convenience of the railroad companies.

This declaration is made earnestly, and it means either Federal ownership of the railroads or civil war. Perhaps this is not the alternate, but it seems to us that when the Federal Courts fully inaugurate this new policy of imprisoning men for belonging to Labor Unions and agreeing to quit work there will be great bloodshed in this country unless the Government takes full possession of the railroad property and operates it in the name of the people. A socialism that turns the back of the country against labor, as would be done under this proposed Federal control of Labor Unions, would be tolerated after the complete subjugation of all it is proposed to oppress. Perhaps such subjugation is possible, but certainly not without the sacrifice of thousands of lives and hundreds of millions in property. The corporation of judges on the Federal bench appear to be utterly reckless of consequences.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP OF RAILROADS.
Mr. Powderly is not complaining of it.
He thinks that, while it is in the name of the people, it emphasizes the right of the public in railroad property, and says "It is a poor rule that will not work
both ways."

Mr. Powderly is a Socialist, who believes in confiscating railroad property by forcing the transfer of ownership to or by some other method that will enable the Government to take charge of the roads
and to operate them as public property.
Every believer that the transfer of ownership will best be promoted by the promotion of the largest possible individual self-reliance; everyone who can see that this is incompatible with the principle of centralization and of reliance on a paternal Government, regrets to see the Capitalists who control the railroads forcing issues as they have done in these decisions. For if we are to have the tyrannical interference through the abuse of the power of the Federal courts, an overwhelming majority of the American people, including the most pronounced opponents of centralized Government, will conclude that the Government ownership of the railroads is a less evil than private ownership of men.

As the case stands now, railroad corporations engaged in controversy with their employees can use the men they have put on the Federal bench and through them can have American citizens imprisoned for striking. The man who cannot strike for higher wages and better treatment is no longer free, and the use of the Federal courts for slave-driving purposes can only be justified on the assumption that either the public or some private employer has under the wage system such rights of ownership in the person of the laborer as were formerly claimed by feudal lords over their serfs. Those who study history will remember that the great uprising of laborers in the Middle Ages, was due to an attempt to re-establish the claim to property control of the person of the laborer. This claim the Federal courts now make in the name of the public but in the interests of the corporations which have packed the Federal bench
with their agents and beneficiaries.

If the Federal courts maintain their present attitude it is hardly doubtful that the Government will assume the ownership of the railroads, compensating the present owners in accordance with that same great principle of equity illustrated
in dealing with the owners of negroes, who were recognized as property by the Constitution and laws of the United States.

Lincoln

N. S. H. B. 633.
LINCOLN will make the season of 1893 at my place 1 1/4 miles East of Bewleyville, Ky.
As to his breeding, it is royal, in fact we will say that his blood lines are so uniquely blended Danmark, by both his sire and dam through his renowned ancestry, on through the veins of the four-mile race horse Denmark, and back until the savor of such blood is lost in seas of perfection on Oriental continents. Bred as he is, with the long, body, star, style, color and kindly disposition he possesses, we claim him the best all purpose stallion in Western Kentucky.

DESCRIPTION AND PEDIGREE.
LINCOLN is dark bay, foaled in 1888, with black legs, minn and tall, long, rumpy neck, with nice nose, and a natural saddle, walk, four-walks, power, ricks, canter, and trots square under the saddle and in harness. Sire, On Time by Stonewall Jackson 72, by Washington Denmark 64, by Gaines Denmark 61, by Denmark F. S.
by Holcroft (Imp.), Stonewall Jackson 72; dam by Tom Hal, Washington Denmark 64, dam Polly Hopkins No. 46, by Cockspur, Gaines Denmark 61, Stevenson Mare No. 48, by Cockspur.

Lincoln will be permitted to serve mares on the following terms: One mare $12.00 for living colt, two or more mares belonging to same party $10.00.
We hope to do business with our old patrons and many new ones in 1893.
Respectfully,

At the church festival of the colored Baptists last Saturday the following prizes were given to those raising the most money for the church: A gold watch to Miss Miller; a gold necklace to Lavinia Phillips; a china plate to Mania Landon.

Crafton Cunningham, of McConnell & Cunningham, commission merchants, Louisville, started last Monday on his regular annual trip to buy southern products and dispose of the products of other climes which his house handles.

Mr. Cunningham's home is at Cannelton, this county, and he is one of the Breckinridge boys that is making his mark in the outside business world. He has just returned from a business trip in New York and other eastern states.

FIFTY-FIVE DOLLARS.

The Amount That Ben Bates Swiped From Wm. Downs Last Saturday Night.

Young Ben Bates is in more trouble. He is yet at large, but ex-Sheriff DeJernette is hot on his trail, and should he be captured, the chances are that a term in the penitentiary will be his lot.

Last Saturday evening Wm. Downs, a prominent Breckinridge county farmer, was in Hardinsburg, and falling in with Bates, the two had several drinks together.

At night they stopped at the old Hambleton House, and occupied the same bed. When Downs awoke next morning Bates was gone, and on examination Downs discovered that he had been robbed of about $55.00. He immediately suspected that Bates had taken his money and a warrant was consequently issued for Bates' arrest.

No trace of the young man could be found about Hardinsburg, and it was later discovered that he had boarded the 10 o'clock train in this city Sunday with a ticket for Louisville.

The officer was then started on his track, but as yet it is not known that he has apprehended his man.

The history of young Bates is not a commendable one. He has been in trouble frequently, and it is only through respect and sympathy for his family, that he has not already been sent over the river and back.

Only a few weeks ago he forged the name of Walter Haynes to a note for $10.00 and "shaved" it with Dr. R. L. Newsom. For this he would have been arrested, but his mother finding it out, righted matters with the Doctor, and the affair was hushed up.

Wm. Downs the man he has robbed this time is a prominent farmer in the back part of the county. He is the one fault, however, of getting drunk nearly every time he goes to town.

Last Saturday when he went to Hardinsburg he went around and paid up all his debts, and transacted some other necessary business and then proceeded to fill up.

After deducting the amounts of his necessary expenditures, for which he has bills and receipts, and making a liberal allowance for his whiskey expenditures, Mr. Downs arrives at the amount of which he claims to have been robbed.

It is reported that Bates exhibited about that amount of money to friends in this city Sunday morning before he boarded the train. Circumstantial evidence is strongly against him.

Resolution of Respect And Sympathy.
WHEREAS, God in his infinite wisdom and mercy has seen fit to release our sweet and kind friend, Joseph C. Cashman, Sr., from his earthly sufferings and take him hence to a brighter and better world; and

Resolved, that we, the members of the Union Star Sunday School, the M. E. Church, South, here have so valiantly and cheerfully labored for many long years, and to the community at large in general, and

WHEREAS, knowing the sweet kindness and nobleness of his heart, we further feel that his loss as a loving parent can never be replaced; be it

Resolved, that we the members of the Union Star Sunday School, individually and collectively, extend to the grief-stricken relatives, sons, daughters, grand children and other relatives—our heart-felt sympathies in their hour of sorrow; we feel that their loss is our loss, and we join with them in lamentations and grief.

Carter's Stock Sale.
Friday is an day of great interest, for stock sales especially. It either snows or rains just enough to keep the public indoors and at home. But notwithstanding the bad weather there is always fair crowd present and the sale of the very best farmers and stockmen, who come for business.

The stock offered last Friday was all one and brought good prices with the exception of the horses which were in no condition to sell and consequently went low.

The cattle, sheep and hogs sold readily at fair prices and Mr. Carter was well pleased with them, and feels encouraged with his venture and expects to make these sales a yearly feature. He promises however to have his stock in better condition next year.

There were several huggies and spring wagons sold at prices that pleased both seller and buyer.

JACK, THE POISONER.
Is Going His Rounds, And Many Are The Cases That Have Bit The Dust.
PEOPLE ARE MAD.

Some miscreant has taken it upon himself to slay the dogs of Cloverport, and many haunts that once knew the third dog, the grey hound the bull pup or the fice will know him no more.

About three weeks ago a dog showing unmistakable evidences of hydrophobia came into town and before he could be killed had bitten several dogs and one child.

Nothing further was thought of the matter until about a week ago when the dogs began dying all over the city. It was at first thought that they were dying from the effects of the bite of the mad dog, but dogs died that were not bitten, and at last some bits of meat were found that were highly impregnated with the deadly poison, and the truth was then known that some evil inclined person was secretly doing the work.

Near thirty dogs have died and the town is almost dogless now. Among those killed were some valuable animals, prized highly by their owners, and the guilty person had better keep it to himself.

Dogs on which taxes are paid are property with a value attached and it is a felony to kill them the same as it is to destroy horses, cattle etc. According to the Statutes of Kentucky, a man may be heavily fined and imprisoned for committing this very offense.

Cloverport Baptist Sunday School—In Memoriam.
WHEREAS, John S. Newton, for many years a worthy and highly esteemed member of this Sunday School, has departed this life April 7th, 1893. Therefore, be it

Resolved, that in his death the Sunday School has lost a valued member, a regular attendant, and an earnest and steady friend, and to show forth our appreciation of his services, we hereby direct that this tribute to his worth be spread upon the records of the Sunday School and that the Breckinridge News be requested to publish the same.

Respectfully submitted,
